

English Language and Literature

Subject: A. English Language and Literature

Purpose: B. The English Language and Literature collection is primarily intended to support undergraduate and graduate research and teaching to the Bachelor and Master levels as well as individual faculty projects.

Academic Programs Served:

C. The English Language and Literature collection supports programs primarily in the English Department. Degrees are offered at the Bachelor of Arts level, the Bachelor of Science level in English Secondary Education, the Master of Arts and Master of Science as well as the Master of Fine Arts in Creative Writing level. Various aspects of English Language and Literature are of interest to other disciplines such as American Literature, Communication, Education, Journalism, and Theatre.

Collection Guidelines:

D. Languages: Materials are collected in English only. Books in Old English and Middle English by major authors are acquired selectively.

Chronology: All chronological periods are collected. Current materials and imprints are emphasized.

Geography: The United States and Great Britain are emphasized. Important literary works from Commonwealth nations and Latin America are also collected. North American and Western European imprints are emphasized.

Notes/Comments:

Lower and upper division textbooks are excluded. Publications of the Modern Language Association, the National Council of Teachers of English, and university presses are considered important. Books by winners of notable literary awards are purchased.
