

University Archives

Subject: A. Special Collections

Purpose: B. The University Archives is primarily intended to supplement and enhance specific sections of the curriculum at the University, to provide primary source material for undergraduate and graduate research and teaching as well as individual faculty projects, to develop selected collections of national interest, and to maintain the institutional memory of the University and its community. Special Collections seeks to maximize the accessibility of its collections while preserving their physical integrity.

Academic Programs Served:

C. The University Archives supports the information needs of the entire academic community regarding the institution and its immediate environment.

Primary collections within the area are:

A.H. Gosselin Long Island Sound Collection
David C. Libbey Collection of Library Ephemera
Finis Ewing Engleman Presidential Papers
Samuel M. Brownell Presidential Papers
Southern Connecticut State University Photographic Archive
Southern Connecticut State University Faculty Senate Archive
Stephen Collins Papers

Collection Guidelines:

D. Languages: Materials are collected regardless of language.

Chronology: 1638 to the present.

Geography: New Haven County, Connecticut is emphasized.

Notes/Comments:

All material types are collected (monographs, serials, maps, newspapers, ephemera, photographs, etc.).

Library Liaison: Paul Holmer